

WALK {Get outside and discover new parts of your city}

Day of the Tour

Encourage the student guides to take on an ambassadorial role, this is their tour and the participants are eager to hear what they have to say. Guides shouldn't assume any of the other students know the material that they are about to present. They are there to enliven, teach and share their stories with others, their enthusiasm will be contagious. These are places they care about, and as we have learned, the places where we live, work and go to school all have interesting stories behind them. And don't forget to take pictures, share them, post them, or send them along to us here at Jane's Walk and we'll post some on the web.
